

I just couldn't get pregnant... until I met Carol

Alex Bordenham, 35, from Taunton, Somerset

Taking a deep breath, I looked down at the pregnancy test. Negative. I tried not to let the sense of crushing disappointment overwhelm me, but it was so hard to stay strong, upbeat.

My partner Mike and I had been trying for a baby for five years. When Nature hadn't taken its course, we'd undergone fertility treatment. It'd been expensive, invasive and stressful.

It hadn't worked, so we'd tried again. And again. But I just didn't get pregnant.

Mike and I had loads of tests. We were both fit and healthy. But it just wasn't happening.

'Your pituitary gland isn't linking up with your ovaries. It may be time to accept you'll never get pregnant,' the consultant said.

But I couldn't come to terms with a future without babies.

I confided some of my fertility woes to a sympathetic colleague, Mindi. She told me she had regular sessions with a healer called Carol Everett.

'She's fantastic with fertility problems,' Mindi said. 'She's helped women get pregnant after 13 years of trying!'

'Really?' I asked, thoughtfully. 'Isn't "healing" just a load of hocus-pocus?'

'Not this one. She works wonders where medical establishments couldn't help,' she added.

Despite my scepticism, I looked on Carol's website. It described her as a 'medical intuitive' who had a 99 per cent success rate with fertility problems. Most got pregnant in two to three months.

It sounded too good to be true, but I was willing to try anything.

She wasn't far away from me, in Devon, so I booked an appointment.

I was so nervous at our first meeting, but Carol's friendly manner soon put me at my ease.

'I can see what the problem is,' she said to me. 'Certain areas aren't connecting up. Your pituitary gland isn't linking with your ovaries.'

Just what the doctor had said to me! I was astonished.

She put on some soothing music, and invited me to lie down on her couch and relax while she began the healing process.

I couldn't feel anything physically while it took place, but a sense of peace and wellbeing washed over me.

Two months later, I took a pregnancy test. I stared at it, resigned, waiting for the two blue lines meaning 'negative' to show up...

Positive.

I was pregnant!

I was completely over the moon. My partner Mike was as ecstatic as me.

But I was slightly flabbergasted, too. Had Carol really achieved this where the medical establishment failed? Was it proof she really did have special powers? Or had I just

The baby-

Mike and I had loads of tests

maker

We hope and prayed for a third child

got lucky after all this time?

My pregnancy flew past without problems. On 28 March 2008, our daughter Keira was born. She was perfect.

As time went by, I hoped I'd fall pregnant again. But it didn't happen. So once again, we underwent fertility treatment, and once again, it failed.

So towards the end of 2009, I asked Carol for further help. By now, she'd moved to Murcia in Spain. I wasn't convinced her healing abilities would be so acute over Skype – but I was willing to try anything again...

The long-distance healing worked! Our son Kamden was born on 17 July 2010. We hoped and prayed for a third child, and when Nature – and fertility treatment – didn't take its course, we asked Carol to step in.

And on 19 February 2012, Kade came along.

With three beautiful children, Mike and I thought our family was complete.

But the Universe had a surprise in store for us. In late summer 2013, I realised – quite out of the blue – that I was pregnant.

'You can't be,' Mike said. 'We haven't had any help this time!'

But I was. And on 19 March this year, our gorgeous daughter Kenza was born.

Throughout all this, Carol has remained positive and upbeat. She was delighted for us when I told her we'd become pregnant on our own!

Carol and I have become close – so much so that

I asked for help when I lost a ring with a tanzanite stone that Mike brought on a trip to Brazil.

Carol replied to my frantic text with this message:

Hi Alex. Looks like a brown flap-over bag or case – rusty-looking colour.

Love Carol xxx

I checked through our luggage... Lo and behold, there it was!

I can only describe Carol as a miracle worker. She's now working with Spanish doctors on anti-aging and skin-revival research, hoping to help burns victims.

She's a wonderful human being and good friend.

Those who've experienced infertility will understand just how painful, how stressful, it is. Somehow, Carol managed to turn Mike's and my fertility switch from 'off' to 'on'.

We're so grateful to her – but no more kids, thanks Carol. Four is enough!

• Read more about Carol at www.caroleverett.com

My girls:
Keira and Kenza

Carol is a wonderful human being

Watch it!

In Switzerland, if you want to get pregnant, this bizarre New Year's ritual might help!

Go to www.youtube.com/chatitsfate

YouTube

Scan the code on your mobile phone to check the link

As told to Amanda Vlietstra

Chat it's fate 55